Doing Their Duty

Scores of Advertiser Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are weak.

Backache and other kidney ills may follow.

Help the kidneys do their work.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the tested kidney remedy.

Proof of their worth in the following:

John O. Ripley, Blacksmith, Oxford St., South Paris, Maine, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have helped me wonderfully. I consider it a pleasure to again endorse them. I was feeling quite miserable for several months from an attack of kidney trouble. There were pains through the small of my back and my kidneys did not act regularly. I got Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me in a remarkably short time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

How Any Woman Can Cure Indigestion

Most stomach remedies are make-shifts—they give relief but afterwards the stomach is just as weak, just as unable to digest the food as it was before.

Women especially should not depend on relievers only. MIO-NA Stomach Tablets not only give prompt relief but they put strength and elasticity into the stomach walls and cause the digestive juices to act naturally.

They do more; they force the digestive organs to supply the blood with pure nourishment which is carried to the muscles, nerves, brain and skin. Result: healthy muscles, strong nerves, clear head, and clean skin. Noyes Drug Store guarantees MIO-NA Stomach Tablets—50 cents.

Reflections

At Pike Hill Burying Ground, Norway.

Strolling among those graves one day, Those quiet graves so far away From all the bustle of the world, I thought of the busy town in life, I thought of the busy town in life, I thought of the busy town in life.

Who lived and wrought here long ago, And wondered, could they now awake To once again this place, In Norway's thought, and work and play, If they would feel and think today.

Blown by the wind, the trees still sigh; The same blue lake lies placid by Grand Old Pike's hill, still at its base The river and the lake and the shore, The farms they wrested from the wild; I thought of the busy town in life, I thought of the busy town in life, I thought of the busy town in life.

Wouldn't it be a half strange, For time and tide alike bring change, I looked those humble tombstones o'er; We hear the names those sleepers bore, Herring and Pike, Millard and Briggs, Parsons and Frost, Newhall and Pratt.

At the same time, I thought of the busy town in life, I thought of the busy town in life, I thought of the busy town in life.

Now, horseless cars go whirling by The farmhouse doors; still faster fly The automobiles, and the motor cars, Are ornaments, distaffs and reels All gilded, now adorn the walls.

Those old houses, now and then, Are quite unlike the life they knew, The modern churches, schools and grange Would never be to them, and strange.

And yet, methinks, those sleepers bore, Who lived and loved here long ago, Would they be wakened, know the place, With sadness and a deep content, That Time had brought the fulfillment Of their dream, and the realization of their hope.

Well, here they rest upon the hill— And we, the product of their will, Build on the same, and then we sing, Of those today, of those to be, Of those who live, and those who die, We shall know when Time is done, Our work, our life, our love, are one.

Don't Yell.

It is one of the commonest as well as one of the most amusing of human idiosyncrasies—the tendency of the human voice to shout into the transmitter of a telephone the more perfectly and comfortably does the sound reach the person at the other end.

Great numbers of people who in the ordinary affairs of life are so much in the habit of shouting into the telephone receiver as if they were shouting to the person at the other end of the line.

They do more; they force the digestive organs to supply the blood with pure nourishment which is carried to the muscles, nerves, brain and skin. Result: healthy muscles, strong nerves, clear head, and clean skin. Noyes Drug Store guarantees MIO-NA Stomach Tablets—50 cents.

In The Days of Long Ago.

By Mrs. S. E. BATES BARTLETT.

"Give me the days when my heart was young and fair." "The dearest spot on earth is 'Home Sweet Home'."

First Endeavors at Housekeeping

For the encouragement of those just commencing this most (at times) perplexing, though pleasing occupation, I will write just a little from my own experience. I will say by way of a little excuse for myself, because you know it says in the Bible, "The woman whom Thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat." Genesis 3:12. It is often the case we feel inclined to lay the blame on some one else, but really in this instance I was not so much to blame after all, for I lived twenty-five miles from a church or schoolhouse.

At these times it was very hard to "light up" evenings. "No oil in the vessel with our lamps," no candles, what could I do? What would you have done, dear reader? I'll tell you what I did. I took the oil from a meadow hen or heron, as they are called, put it in a tin lamp, placed it near the heat of the stove, and from the little blaze, I could see all over the room, yes, by sitting very close to it, I could see to knit or sew, without "specks," too. Guess I could not do it now.

I shot this long-legged, long-necked bird, I think he was rather tresspassing, for as he was walking along very cautiously on the banks of my little brook where I got water for housekeeping. I gave him a good warning to fly away and leave my little trout alone, but as he would not listen, I told him in "Plain English" if he did not go I would shoot him. Perhaps I will tell you the whole story some time. This was my "Alpha and Omega" of my using a gun, it came near killing at both ends, too.

They were long days for me, so I will look on the side which had a "silver lining" (if there was one) and perhaps speak of the primitive way of keeping house, in my day some sixty years ago. I thought I was following the styles, for I had heard my mother tell how she used to do, and grandma too, and often congratulated myself, I was living up to the times, perhaps in some ways I was, for like most young people, I tried to make my nest and surroundings look as nice as I could. I made rugs, grave trees and curtains, carded wool and spun yarn, and made butter and cheese. No sewing machine, no wringer and no cheese press. I kept some geese, which I enjoyed very much, except their willingness to convert any time and where ever they might be, and it was always on a high key with a bass to it.

There was no paint on the floor, or anywhere in the house for that matter, no plastering, and so I had to scour all over, and wash and rinse but you would have said it was white if you had walked in.

Grading up of Live Stock.

It seems hard to many farmers, but it is merely a matter of using pure-bred males for a few crosses. You start with females—cattle, sheep, hogs, fow—with no improved blood in them—pure scrubs—if you happen to be so unlucky as to possess them. Using a pure-bred male, the scrub blood is reduced to fifty per cent. in one generation.

In two generations, it falls to twenty-five per cent. In three, to twelve and a half; in four, to six and the sixth cross will give you animals which will have about one and one-half per cent. of scrub. There will be only a trace of scrub. For all practical purposes the herd or flock will be pure-breds.

After any Sickness

nothing so rapidly restores health and vigor as SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is the essence of natural body-nourishment, so medically perfect that nature immediately appropriates and distributes it to every organ, every tissue—feeding, nourishing and restoring them to normal activity.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is not a patent medicine, but is nature's body-nourishment with curative, upbuilding properties and without a drop of drug or alcohol. It contains superior cod liver oil, the hypophosphites of lime and soda with glycerine, and is so delicately emulsified that it enters the system without digestive effort—builds, tones and sustains.

After croup, whooping cough, measles and other child ailments it is nature's ally in restoring health.

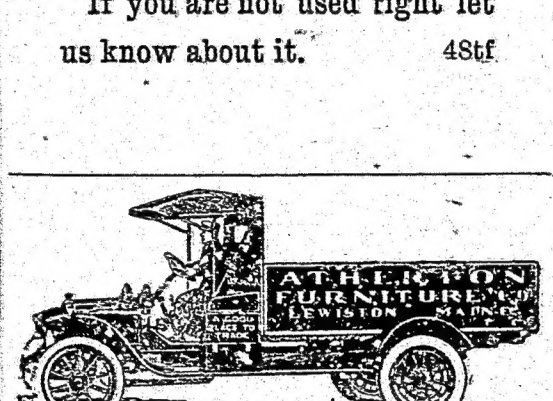

After grippe or pneumonia it imparts strength and health, and for colds, coughs, sore, tight chests and throat troubles SCOTT'S EMULSION gives the greatest relief known.

A GIRL'S WILD MIDNIGHT RIDE.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "I cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 57 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by The Noyes Drug Store. 1-5

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, The great and Supreme Ruler of the universe has in His infinite wisdom removed from among us, one of our worthy and esteemed sisters, Mary Flint; and

WHEREAS, the love and intimate relation held with her in the faithful discharge of her duties in this society makes it eminently fitting that we record our appreciation of her therefore.

Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which she has exercised in the aid of our organization, by service, contributions, and counsel, will be held in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this organization, and will prove a serious loss to our community and the public.

Resolved, That with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this organization, a copy printed in the local paper and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted at the annual meeting of the Center Lovell Christian Church, Jan. 12, 1913.

WHEREAS, our Heavenly Father, in His infinite wisdom, has permitted the removal of our beloved pastor, Rev. Jesse W. Card, from the scene of his zealous labors to the mysteries of the beyond; and

WHEREAS, it seems but just that a fitting recognition of his many virtues should be had, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to his memory to say in the death of Brother Card, the Center Lovell Christian Church, the York and Cumberland Conferences and the Christian Commission at large have sustained great loss.

His sterling character and sympathetic disposition won for him the respect and regard of those who knew him best, while those who were permitted to sit under his ministry can cordially testify to his ability, his sermonizing, which was rarely, if ever, excelled.

Resolved, That while the passing of Brother Card, following so soon the death of other of our prominent workers, is somewhat disheartening, yet we can cheerfully and with a higher and nobler faith, submit to the will of the Infinite, we will endeavor to stand as faithful soldiers in the post of duty until we too shall receive the summons to "come up higher" believing that God "buries his workmen, He will carry on his work."

Resolved, That we, as a church and society, sincerely condole with all who were bound to our brother by the ties of relationship, and offer our most heartfelt sympathy to the afflicted wife in this time of her profound sorrow, and we earnestly pray that the consolations of the Gospel and the love of friends and so tenderly presented to others, may at this time, come back to the mourning friends in the fullest measure, comfort their hearts by the hope of a reunion in the better world where there are no partings, and where God shall wipe away every tear.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the church, and a copy be transmitted to the wife of our deceased brother.

RESOLUTIONS.

Respectfully submitted,

WEST BETHEL.

Pleasant Valley Grange met Tuesday evening, Jan. 14. Worthing Master Geo. A. Grover presided, closing the work of the grange for the year, after which a public installation of officers was held.

Deputy Richard Gates of Paris grange was the installing officer; aids were, Sisters, Alice Ordway, Mabel Scribner, Mildred Shaw, Marjorie Mason, Mrs. Robert Bennett, Mrs. Edwin Pike, Mrs. L. E. Sumner, and Stella Goodridge.

The work was conducted in the manner of a drill, in a graceful and pleasing exhibition of grange work. Brother Gates is surely the right man in the right place discharging the duties with an earnestness, setting the importance of the work.

In a short talk Brother Gates urged the members to a strict loyalty to the edicts of the order, thereby strengthening themselves and adding impetus to the order because of that loyalty.

Sister Emily Burke of Bethel grange presided at the piano during the installation. A musical and literary program was then given consisting of:

Piano solo—Mrs. Howard Ensign.

Song—Brother F. S. Pike, Paris grange.

Reading—Brother F. S. Pike, Paris grange.

Sister A. E. K. Grover, Norway grange.

Piano solo—Mildred Brown.

Song—Brother F. S. Pike.

18th Birthday Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Q. Perham made a birthday party for their daughter Mildred and friend, Louise F. Bartlett, at home Thursday evening, it being their 18th anniversaries.

Fifty or more of their friends and neighbors were present. The evening was spent in playing games, consisting of a peanut hunt, consequences, winkum, etc. In the peanut hunt Rupert Hathaway found the most and received the first prize and Fred Cole won the booby prize.

Most of the party also had the pleasure of making a trip to Europe. While on their way many met with mishaps and disappointments which caused a good deal of merriment to the company.

We noticed A. M. Andrews, N. I. Swan and others assembled in the dining room trying to see who could tell the biggest story. The judges were unable to decide which should receive the prize, Andrews or Swan.

A bountiful treat was served during the evening of candy, pop corn balls, fancy crackers and punch.

Obsequies of the late Mrs. Mildred Mills were held at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Shedd.

The present winter in this part of our State is unlike any of its predecessors within the memory of any persons now living. At this writing the public roads are solid sheets of ice and walking is a very perilous exercise, when on foot in the street.

W. K. Hamlin is having a large quantity of pine box timber hauled to his mill, also hardwood logs for sawing into staves for shooks. He is already decorating the sides of the street leading Hiramward by handsome piles of box-boards.

The bride is a handsome lass and the newly wedded pair will go to their home in Massachusetts.

Some excitement was caused in the village Tuesday by a runaway horse. William Baskell was driving toward home on the Norway road when a shaft broke and as he got out of the pump the horse became unmanageable and ran some distance stopping at Isaac Skillings where he encountered a set of sleds which threw him. Here he was captured by the citizens who gathered. Horse and driver are reported to be uninjured.

The streets are covered with ice and pedestrians are in danger of life and limb. The school children skate in the streets and though they receive many falls, seem to enjoy the fun. Not all have the pluck of little Phillip Wilbur whom the writer saw fall five times in succession to the sleds. Finally Phillip crawled on his hands and knees to the top of the hill, mounted his sled and triumphantly rode down. All sorts of vehicles are seen out and it is to be hoped that a kind Providence will soon see fit to send snow.

BY BOOSTERS, KICKERS AND OTHERS
You are invited to contribute, No Questions Asked or Responsibility Assumed and No Pay Except by Court Order.

On Friday evening, Feb. 21st, is the time set for the annual Board of Trade banquet. This year it is stated to be held in the Grange Hall—280 can be seated at table.
Don C. Seitz of New York, Prof. Richard E. Clement of New Jersey, Frank T. Trus of Nebraska and others will be present.
Invitations have been sent to Hon. Henry Watterson of Kentucky, Josephus Daniels of North Carolina and Obadiah Gardner of Maine and it is hoped they will be present. If not here in person they can at least send letters of regrets which can be read by President H. B. Foster and then printed in this paper.
The Editor of this column has been invited to a seat on the stage—back of the pipe organ—and it's been hinted he is to turn a crank and make a noise while the visitors will tell of good roads, streets and sewers, and the opportunity of Norway to set an example for all the rest of the world to follow.
We certainly will be there if not in person then by proxy.
The good work should go on.

D. Cromett Clark of Somerville, Mass., had something to say in last week's paper about permanent care of lots in burying grounds. His notions are good and well expressed.
The Norway Pine Grove Cemetery Association give permanent care to such lots as relatives are willing to pay for.
We recently printed blanks for that purpose. Capt. Whitman ordered them and there is a space left blank to write in the amount of money you are to pay.

"How old is the Thompson mare? Can you tell by her teeth?"
"Yes I suppose so," replied O. M. Cummings, "she is seven all right."
"Seven, I should say so! She was 10 years old when brought here and she has been here seven years and no doubt she is all that and more."
"None of my horses are over seven," said Mr. Cummings. "I'm 47 and all my horses are seven. They seldom get older than that."
In 1842 there were 40 deaths in Norway, 14 attributed to cancer rab. In 1848 there were 42 and diphtheria is assigned as the cause of 24.
Somehow such diseases are handled better than in the earlier days.
Our Board of Health and physicians are doing something, even tho' there is no public sewerage. Maybe we don't need a better sewerage system.
Evidently we are to wait and see.

The new nomenclature:
The Upper Cesspool.
The Middle Cesspool.
The Lower Cesspool.
The old way of expressing it:
Bog above the Saw-Mill.
Cummings' Mill Pond.
Steep Falls Mill Privilege.
How about Buck's dam stream and the Tannery Brook—Colateral sewers to the Lower Cesspool—That's what they are.
This is the way it expressed. The exact meaning we don't know:
"If you are a man, smile."
"If a dog, wag your tail."
Look over the Kicker column but don't kick the Editor, you can hurt him more by stopping your paper.
Clothes don't make the man or the woman but the clothes make a difference. If you don't believe it try walking down street without any. It's cold now and we'd suggest deferring the experiment until warmer weather.

"No man ever went without anything very much if he could borrow it."

There's Something in it You Want
"Buy or Borrow a Copy?"
Norway, Maine
We deal in dogs, printing and some other things.

This shows something.
In Norway for the ten years prior to 1850 there were 380 deaths of which 59 are recorded as dying of consumption. Almost 25 per cent.
For the ten years prior to 1910 there were 417 deaths and only 28 are attributed to consumption.
This shows less than 7 per cent.
This shows a remarkable decrease or it may be in the earlier period that everyone who died of a wasting-away disease was called consumption, while in the latter period it was not so recorded.
The above is what the records show and we are not going behind the records.

This is the way a letter was once mailed at the North Waterford office, when H. M. Fox was post-master:

Address your parcel post packages correctly. The name of the sender must appear on the wrapper. This is important. A special "parcel post" postage stamp must be used. Don't forget this. It's a nuisance and an apparently unnecessary bother but the ordinary postage stamp is no go on a parcel post package.
We can furnish you with a complete table of parcel post rates as shown in all zones. If wanted, call at this office or send one cent stamp in letter and one will be forwarded to you by mail.
"Hits, Growls and Pats" is the new and revised name for this column. If you don't like it say so and it can be changed.

Norway has lost its road Commissioner. Hon. John A. Roberts has had a call to a better office—Commissioner of Agriculture, headquarters at Augusta with a salary of $1500.00 per year.
We can't blame him for accepting though we are sorry to lose his services as Road Commissioner as he has done much for our roads in the past two years and it was hoped he might continue in this office from year to year—over though the salary was small and the kicking and fault-finding great.
A new Road Commissioner must be selected. Who shall it be?

W. L. Marr has commenced to cut the pine timber that he sold to A. G. Morse. O. O. Kendall at Charles Bailey will haul it to Emerson Pike's mill at the head of Stearn's pond where it is to be sawn.

Bisbee's mill has been running of late on custom sawing. Mr. Bisbee has three men cutting down timber on his land besides some being cut by others that he is buying. It looks as though he meant to keep his mill busy the coming year.
Emerson A. Pike's mill is in running order and they have been cutting and hauling which will mean that they are sawing into our timber. They have a number of buildings besides the mill. There is a cook house, lodging house and stable. It looks as though they meant to do a good business.
George Hill of South Waterford has the job to cut and haul the pine timber on the farm known as the W. W. Stone farm. Mr. Hill has a crew cutting also teams hauling the timber to Stearn's pond where it is to be landed, then it will be hauled to the Trill brook, in the spring, to Bigland lake and then rafted to Bridgton Center. The timber is owned by George Newcomb.

No Hands Wanted.
A woman visiting, a butcher shop, called for a piece of beef. The butcher, in weighing it, had his hand on the scales. The lady picking up a shorn knife and handing it to the butcher, remarked: "I haven't any use for it, but you may cut it off, and I'll take it along, anyhow."
"Cut it off? Cut what off?" asked the butcher.
"Your hand; you weighed it."

SURELY BANISHES CATARRH

Where there's catarrh there's thousands of catarrh germs. You can't get rid of catarrh unless you kill these germs.
You can't kill them with stomach medicine or sprays because they can't get where germs are.
You can kill these germs with Booth's HYOMEI, a penetrating antiseptic, balsamic air that you breathe a few times a day directly over the raw, sore, germ-infested membrane. It does not contain morphine or any habit forming drug.
For catarrh, croup, coughs and colds, HYOMEI is sold in the money back plan by Noyes Drug Store. Complete outfit $1.00. Extra bottles of Booth's HYOMEI if afterwards needed, only 50 cents. Just breathe it—no stomach dosing. Adv. 34

A poor light strains the eyes, and the injurious effects may last for life. An oil lamp is best. The light from the Rayo Lamp is soft and mellow. You can read or work under it for hours without hurting your eyes.

The RAYO is constructed scientifically. It is the best lamp made—yet inexpensive and economical.

BETTER FARMING

means producing maximum crops with the least expense and without impairing the fertility of the soil. Lowell Fertilizers produce a profitable crop and increase the fertility of the soil by supplying a reserve for future seasons. They are composed of Animal Matter—Bone, Blood and Meat—to which has been added potash in the proper proportions to make a perfectly natural plant food that is active all the time.

"WILL CONTINUE TO USE LOWELL FERTILIZER."
I am very much pleased with Lowell Animal Fertilizers. I had about 4,000 barrels of potatoes on nearly 35 acres of ground, not as large this year as I have had in some years, but larger than the average grower has had this past season, which has been very wet and backward.

Write for our new booklet. It's full of information and will be sent upon request. If we are not represented in your town, write for terms.

If Mothers Only Knew!

By Dr. True

Nineteen-twentieths of the sickness of children have two causes: constipation and worms!

The danger of constipation is understood, but there are 50 different kinds of worms that may exist in the stomach and bowels, and children are especially apt to have them. Usually stomach and pin worms. Signs of worms are: Indigestion, with a variable appetite; abnormal craving for sweets; nausea and vomiting; swollen upper lip; sour tongue; offensive breath; hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; face at one time flushed, then pale and at a few cases the face takes on a dull leaden hue; eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids; itching of the nose; itching of the rectum; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; little red points sticking out on tongue; starting during sleep; slow growth; pale complexion; irregular body; may be hot; and often, in children, convulsions.

Rid the child of worms and you will have a healthy, happy child.

NOTE—Dr. True's own prescription, sold under the name of Dr. True's Elixir, is the best remedy in the world for worms. It destroys all worm life, expels worms from the body and makes the child healthy again. All dealers, 35c, 50c and $1.00.

Maine's Oldest Guide.

"Line" Daniels, Eighty-two Years Old, Makes His First Trip to the Metropolis in Forty Years and Is Amazed by the Changes—Needs Compass There More Than in Woods.

"Line" Daniels, the oldest guide in Maine, is in New York for the first time in forty years. He is 82 years old, but does not look it, within 15 years at least. He is a very slender man, a trifle more than the average height, with the slightest droop to his shoulders, and only a sprinkling of gray in his hair and moustache.

Mr. Daniels is not doing New York on any cheap, sight-seeing trip, but is being personally conducted by Charles Koones Bishop, of Philadelphia, a man of wealth who lives in the Racquet Club when in that city. Mr. Bishop, spends six months of every year fishing, and "follows the seasons all over the world," as he expressed it yesterday at the Knickerbocker Hotel where he is entertaining his favorite guide.

"I have only two real friends in the world," said Mr. Daniels. "Two that I could count on. One is Mr. Bishop, who owns land on Sebago Lake, Maine, and the other is 'Sal' Fisher. I have known 'Sal' since she was a little girl, for she owns a place up there, and I know her whole family.

"You see Mr. Bishop and I are crazy about salmon fishing, and I admit it. We have what are called 'land locked salmon' up there."

"But what do you think of New York?" asked the reporter.

"It's the first time I have been in a city where I don't see a bit of ground. I went out on the top of this Knickerbocker Hotel yesterday and looked out and could not see ground anywhere. Could not see the sky."

"But I've been in the woods where I could not see the sky. That would be a novelty for a New York man, wouldn't it?"

"This city has changed so in 40 years that if I were set in any part of it and turned loose I could not tell where I was to save my life. I have carried a compass in my pocket for years, and I need it more here than I do in the woods. I've been out once or twice alone, and I always manage to get back all right, but I don't know how I do it, for I am always really lost. One day a girl showed me the way back. It was very nice of her to do it."

"What have you seen in New York?"

"Oh everything—hotels, theatres, restaurants. But I was in Philadelphia for two weeks before coming here. I was Mr. Bishop's guest at the Racquet Club. That was a starter, a preparation."

"How does New York compare with Philadelphia?"

"Just the same as New York would compare with Sandy Beach. That is a place up in Maine with about two houses and a church."

"But how does your host like the reflection on Philadelphia?"

"Oh, that is all right," replied Mr. Bishop, for himself, smiling, "like Sandy Beach."

"But to go back to fishing," said Mr. Daniels. "I have just had a long talk with Edgar Murphy. I believe, he has fished in my country for two weeks and could not catch a single fish. I am going to convert him and make a fisherman of him. There are not so many fish up in my country, but it takes practice, clever work to get one."

"Likes to Land Big Fish."

"That's what I like about it," exclaimed Mr. Bishop. "One may not get many fish, but when one is landed it is a big fellow. I'd rather get one in three days (worth going) than forty or fifty little ones a day."

Mr. Murphy took a seat in the circle and grinned as though he did not see the beauties of fishing without getting immediate results.

"But what do you see yesterday?"

"It was as hard for one to keep these sportsmen on the subject of New York as it was for them to catch a salmon."

"I went on top of the McAlpin Hotel and looked down on Broadway. The people in the street looked like bugs."

"Yes," said Mr. Murphy. "We had to look back. We could not look over for more than a glance, but 'Line' leaned over the railing as long as we would permit him to. I can say with wonder where I am in, but I'll tell you the truth. They are hiring me at $5 a day to guide. 'Line' around New York. At first I had to start in at seven o'clock in the morning, but I notice it gets a little later every day."

"I get up at four o'clock at home, and in the shooting season of November, when we track deer on the fresh snow we never stop at all. I never heard of any one sleeping in November. So I can stand this for a little while."

"I reckon I need some one to guide me here," he said, "but I can show them a thing or two in the summer. Some fresh city fellows came up there once and started out with a bait canoe, and they had it loaded down with provisions and traps. I was paddling around and so was a friend of mine. We were after a buck deer, but when I saw the city fellows I said to myself, 'Oh, what's the use. They'll get it, and I started back."

"Failed to Capture Deer."

"My friend cautioned me to follow. 'Come on,' he said, 'they're going to have some fun. They are going to take it alive." So we paddled along near by and the buck deer was swimming. Then "The one in the middle is going to lasso him," said my friend. And, sure enough, he tied a rope around the buck's horns and started to lead it off.

The whole place, water, air and all was full of men, traps, pieces of the canoe and clothes. Two of the men were drowning and we pulled them in, while the deer swam off. I said—"Young fellow, when you want to take a deer alive don't tackle that end of him."

"By the way, can you cook?"

"Certainly I can cook. The best thing in the world is planked salmon done before an open fire—not the imitation as in most hotels."

"How do you like the New York cooking?"

"He likes the cooking, but he won't stand for boiled sauces," said his New York guide. "I say he is perfectly right. It is an insult to a good chef to serve poor sauces, or a well cooked piece of meat or fish."

"Bah!" exclaimed Mr. Daniels, shrugging his shoulders. "I'd rather have a piece of deer meat on a stick than anything with sauce. The oftener it falls in the ashes the better it is. That's sauce enough for me."

"Have you had any exciting adventures in New York?"

"The most exciting was losing my hat. The wind carried it off. I started to run for it forgetting the danger. These two men pinned me down, one on either side, and in a second a dozen men were running for my hat. I never was so surprised in my life. In my country every man runs for his own hat."

Not Necessary to Run for Hat

"It's the other way around here," said Mr. Murphy. "I told 'Line,' Never run for your hat here. It is only dangerous, but twenty-five men will risk their lives under trolley cars around automobiles for it and return it to you with smiles."

"That's so. You beat us all on that. But I've had an experience few men in this town can say they've had. I was in the woods a whole year, once, without seeing a human being other than two Indians. I was with another guide of course, and we had a camp and then a sort of station miles away. We spent a whole year trapping, and a man was not safe in the woods in those days."

After we had been there several months two Indians came up and I asked them if they had any tobacco. They said they had, so I told them they were welcome. We kept them as long as the tobacco lasted and then we chased them away, we followed their tracks for miles, to be sure they were not coming back to kill us. Many a time I have had a bullet whiz over my bunk at night."

"He tells fish stories too," said Mr. Bishop, who was leaning back and looking at Mr. Daniels.

"You see, they always laugh at me for bragging about the big pickerel in our lake. When one day a man from this city asked me what was the biggest one I ever seen."

"I said: 'Well, I was fishing one day and had a bite. I pulled and pulled on the line. I managed to get four feet out of the water, and was only to the pickerel's eye. Then the line broke.' They didn't joke me again."

"I was surprised not to see more snow in New York. I had to snow shoe twelve miles when I left Sebago Lake, before taking a drive, and later the train. That's a pretty good tramp for a man of my age isn't it?"

"Turkey Trot? Shucks!"

"When he came he carried a watch with him, and kept looking at it, as they do in the woods, to see when it's bed time," said Mr. Murphy. "We took it away from him the other night so it wouldn't worry him."

"Shucks! He must have stayed up to see the women dancing the turkey trot. Why I've seen bears dance more gracefully than the turkey trotters. We got squaws that could dance all around the queer trees I've seen here—dance better, and look better. Gee, I was surprised over the dancing and the clothes."

"I suppose you will have some wonderful stories to tell of what you have seen in New York."

He looked confused and said: "I wouldn't dare to tell the things I have seen in New York."

Before going into the woods "Line" Daniels was a taxidermist in Portland and got a gold medal at a world's fair for the best mounting of a moosehead. Today he will go to the Metropolitan Museum and then to Tiffany's to see some big diamonds. Then he will start back for Maine, to take things easy until spring.

SOUTH RUMFORD.

Perley Putnam is failing very fast. Mrs. Frank Putnam has been visiting her daughter, in Livermore Falls.

Blanche Wyman's friends gave her a surprise party, recently.

Mrs. C. W. Lapham who has been ill for a number of weeks has had a relapse.

Mrs. C. J. Ackley is at home, from Dixfield.

M. J. Swain has finished his logging on Baxter Hill and now has his crew on Zircus.

Arthur Lane's friends are glad to see him on his mail route again. Mr. Lane while killing his pig cut his hand, the doctor took eight stitches. While he was laid up they changed his route from 12 o'clock to 7:30 a. m. In his 10 years service this is the third time he has been ill.

Health Day

Friday, Jan. 17th, was "Health day" in New Hampshire. The Governor says among other things bearing on the subject: "It is suggested that on 'Health day' special instruction on health subjects might be given in our public schools; that the grange might discuss sanitary measures that would be of special interest to the farming communities; that bodies of health, the clergy, the Women's Christian Temperance union, the federation of women's clubs, the Young Men's Christian associations, charity organizations, etc., join in contributing to the laudable purpose of 'Health day.'"

The newspapers of the state will undoubtedly be glad to receive and publish short, instructive articles on any subject pertaining to the protection of public health.

I am convinced that a health day, as it will be observed by the many organizations and individuals who are unselfishly and untiringly working for the benefit of humanity, must result in immeasurable good to the people of the state.

Facts about Appletrees

The most important of all fruits which can be produced in temperate climates, if not the most important fruit which the Creator has bestowed upon man, is the apple. Were people generally in possession of information which would enable them to form conclusions in relation to the value of a single appletree, no one who has a spot of terra firma large enough for a house lot, would neglect to plant one.

Hayward speaks of an appletree in Duxbury, Mass., which was upwards of 100 years old, was 16 feet in circumference 8 inches above the ground, and which produced in one year fruit from which ten barrels of cider was made, besides 30 bushels of apples for the cellar.

An appletree in Natick, Mass., was grafted to the Porter apple when 75 years old, and the 7th year from grafting produced 15 barrels, which sold for 30 dollars.

The original Harbut appletree produced 40 bushels in one year, and 20 the next.

In Orange, N. J., a Harrison appletree produced 100 bushels in one year.

An appletree in Farmington, Me., produced 16 bushels the 16th year from the planting of the seed.

Cole says he has had fruit from an appletree in Plymouth, Mass., when the tree was 200 years old.

We have seen an appletree on the farm of Mr. Calvin Pease of Wilton, Me., from which a crop of 24 bushels of Baldwin was gathered in one year.

An appletree brought from England and planted near Hartford, Conn., produced fruit when 200 years old.

Several appletrees in the United States are 12 feet in circumference, each.

Appletrees are found to flourish best on undulating lands or hills. In low and sheltered situations there is more exposure to extremes of heat and cold.

Appletrees are more sure in their products in northern, north-western, or western exposures than in southern or eastern ones.

Appletrees are more exposed to winter killing in situations where frosts kill vegetation earliest in the fall.

The Baldwin tree is nearly certain to winterkill where the thermometer sinks to 38 degrees below zero.

The summers are too long at the South to produce winter apples, as they over-ripen, and the Baldwin apple becomes a summer or fall apple when cultivated in the South.

The Baldwin is the tenderest variety of the apple that we cultivate. It is too liable to winterkill to be relied upon in Franklin County excepting on high hills.

The Black Oxford is very hardy. It will not winterkill even when the thermometer sinks 40 degrees below zero.

Trees grafted near the ground are much more liable to winterkill than those which are grafted on the tops.

Branches of trees which grow in a horizontal position come into bearing sooner than those which grow more nearly in a perpendicular position.

Good trees, and leaning trees are the best bearers.

English orchardists, in order to hurry certain trees into bearing, bend and tie down the branches.

Suffered Twenty-One Years--Finally Relieved.

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physicians called it "Mother's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours,

MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE, Avoyelles Par., Marksville, La.

Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Eighth Birthday.
Mrs. Harriet Burnham celebrated her eighth birthday, Saturday, Jan. 18. She received quite a number of her friends in the afternoon and was the recipient of an elegant birthday cake with the figures 1888-1913 and the letters H. B. on it. She also received many other gifts from her friends.

Mrs. Burnham is a lady highly esteemed, and is very active for one of her years and her many friends wish her a good many more birthdays.

Mrs. Hannah Henderson Jordan.

We were greatly shocked and saddened at hearing of the death of our kind friend and neighbor, Mrs. Hannah Henderson Jordan, who has been spending the winter in Norway with her daughter Mrs. Carrie A. Morrill.

Mrs. Jordan has been in poor health for a long time, but seemed as well as usual until Friday, when she failed rapidly and passed away Sunday night at eight o'clock, Jan. 19 with plural pneumonia.

She will be greatly missed by all for she was a kind and loving wife and mother, a neighbor that was always ready to help and comfort others.

She leaves to mourn, her husband, Charles D. Jordan; four daughters and two sons, E. Jennie Dresser, wife of Walter Dresser, Harrison; Mrs. Carrie A. Morrill, Norway; Florence F. Tibbets, wife of L. G. Tibbets, Portland; Abbie A. wife of E. A. Hanson, Harrison; Geo. E. and Charlie B. Jordan, Harrison.

M. and Mrs. Harlan Andrews, and having a fine time. Very nice refreshments were served. The grandmother Perham, 86 years old, is very smart and entertaining and seemed to enjoy the party very much. Let us all remember her birthday, March 2, with post cards.

Hon. W. H. Eastman of East Sumner was the guest of Hon. H. D. Hammond a short time last week.

Benjie Doe, who was so severely injured in the H. H. Hays fire in Portland, recently, has been a guest of his mother, Mrs. B. S. Doe.

The old mill, which has stood since the earliest seventies in the east of the village and for some time has been in a bad condition, has been torn down. This was the last of several which stood on the Hubbard lot, and was built for the late Henry R. Morton, who later moved the business to South Paris, leaving two buildings, one of which burned about 25 years ago. For some time the other was used as a storage place but of late has been empty.

Best of the season, so far, is the verdict concerning the supper and entertainment of the Baptist circle, Tuesday evening, Jan. 14. The supper was in charge of the gentlemen and was a very fine one. Orders and pastries, with a goodly lot of other things, made a menu good enough for anybody. The entertainment was the play, "How the Story Grey," and was made even more entertaining by the bright local lights worked into the dialogue. About 170 enjoyed the supper and play.
